

Dave Stewart

There are no Straight Lines in Nature

18 October – 23 November

Winner of the 2002 Waikato Art Awards with his controversial installation using beer bottles and crates, sculptor Dave Stewart is showing works which explore notions of voyage and individual migration. His works create an inevitable looking back, holding onto what one already knows – the cultural experience – and bringing this into the context of a contemporary landscape.

John Collie

Life Blood

Wednesday 8 October, 6pm

Members Gallery

Presenting the notion of New Zealand being a 'green desert' John Collie has provided a photographic counterpoint to the myth that New Zealand is a clean green forgotten paradise.
